An after school program to prepare senior high school students for external speech contests: Implementation and feedback

Keywords
speech preparation, speech contest

A voluntary after school program to prepare students for external speech contests was introduced in a senior high school. The students' perceptions of, and attitudes towards, the program were assessed. Analysis of the data shows a high level of satisfaction and the participating students reported their confidence and levels of speaking and writing had improved. Furthermore, the program offered new learning contexts that were beneficial to the students and developed their skills in the language areas that they found most difficult. The students also had the opportunity to voice their opinions and work autonomously, which empowered them to develop their English skills with a definite goal.

James Bury
Anthony Sellick
Kyoko Yamamoto

There is a long tradition of participation in English speech contests in Japanese education, and they are often the source of great prestige for both the winners and their schools. Perhaps the majority of secondary schools have internal speech contests, with students competing against each other at events such as school culture festivals. However, there are also many external competitions in Japan that allow students an opportunity to test their writing and speech-giving abilities against those from other educational institutions. These competitions present both students and their schools with the chance to gain more recognition of their English ability on the wider stage, which can in turn produce numerous advantages, such as increased applications to the school.

Entering a speech contest has many benefits for students, and incorporates the four English skills as the students write their own speeches, negotiate the topic and structure of the speech with their tutor, research their speeches independently, and then deliver the speech. It also provides the students with an opportunity to function in an autonomous context, further developing their confidence and empowering them to use English in a fulfilling and rewarding way. Bradley (2006) claims that speech contests also allow students to proffer opinions regarding topics that they may not usually encounter in the classroom. Furthermore, having entered a speech contest can be an extra asset when applying to university, and achieving a prize or special mention is well received.

Preparation for contests is essential if a student is to be successful, and in many Japanese institutes, ranging from junior high schools to universities, native speakers of English often take some or all of the responsibility of training and coaching the participants.

This paper investigates the implementation of a new after school program that was introduced at a senior high school and the students’ perception of, and attitudes towards, the program. The school is a 6-year private secondary boarding school, based in the Kanto region of Japan, which, until 2010, only entered an extremely small number (fewer than three in any given year) of students independently into external speech competitions. A limited number of students are entered into internal speech contests held three times a year. The school places a strong emphasis on English, and employs twelve native speakers of English who serve in both team-teaching and sole teacher capacities. For students in years four to six, classes with native speakers of English are optional, but have an extremely low drop-out rate. Although the native speakers’ lessons cover all four skills, their primary focus is in developing speaking and listening skills through communicative methods.

As the students in this school have an unusually large amount of contact time with native speakers of English, and the school is promoted as one in which English is a main priority and focus, it was proposed that the students should have the opportunity to participate in external speech contests. Consequently, the after school program was established.

Murphey and Sasaki (1998) report that in general, English use decreases in the classroom as students progress through junior to senior high school as it is believed that the curriculum can be taught more efficiently in Japanese (Burden, 2001). Therefore, in addition to boosting participation in external speech contests, a key aim and benefit of the program is to maintain, or increase, the amount of contact time students get with native English teachers, and thus the opportunity to use English. Chances for students to develop their long-writing skills through the curriculum are also often limited with a strong emphasis being put on sentence level grammatical structures, so this program would enable students to practise and further enhance these skills.

Setting up the Program

As this was a new project at the school, a proposal was drawn up and presented to the Head of English teaching. It was agreed with the Head of English teaching to pilot the program in its first year with the 5th-year students only, and subsequently the program and some competitions were introduced to the 5th-year students at a yearly group assembly. Entry into the program was entirely voluntary, and it was made clear to the students that they could drop out at any time if they felt that they did not wish to continue.

It was initially assumed that the students would show a positive interest in the program, and that about ten students would choose to enter. Consequently, the criterion of success that was established was for a total of ten speeches to be submitted to various external speech contests by the end of the academic year.

The actual initial response was considerably higher than had been anticipated, with 25 students of the 117 5th year students that participate in lessons with the native speakers of English joining (21.4%). The participating students consisted of 21 female students and four male students, with a median age of 17. These students were divided between the two participating native speakers of English, who then took on the responsibility of helping the students write and research their speeches, and also coaching them with regards to the various factors important in giving a successful speech, such as intonation and pace.

It was decided that, due to time constraints (in particular, club activities), each student would formally meet with their allocated assigned teacher once a week for a period of 15 to 30 minutes. The students had the choice as to whether they would meet their teacher individually, in pairs, or in small groups. Of the 25 participants, all but six decided to attend individually.

A total of 17 students of the 25 opted to enter speech contests with submission deadlines in early June. Of the remaining eight students, two opted to leave the course (one male and one female), and six to prepare speeches for contests with submission deadlines in July through October. Of the entries, one student progressed to a semi-final round, while a second student received an exemplary speech award. Six students also participated in the school’s internal speech contests, with two taking first place and three second.

As each student submitted their first speeches to a contest, they were asked to complete a questionnaire (Appendix A) regarding the program and their experiences of it, with an 87% response rate obtained. The results are presented and discussed below.

Results
The responses given in the questionnaires showed an overwhelmingly positive response to the program, and the data are presented below in Tables 1 and 2 below. Several items (Q1-4, Q9-10, and Q12-21) allowed students to make their own, unstructured comments, translations of which are provided in Appendix B.

The main reasons given for joining the program (Q1) were to improve their English ability and their enjoyment of English. Subsidiary reasons were the chance to compare their English ability with students from other schools and that entering speech contests can help with university entry. By far the majority of the students had never entered a speech contest before (Q2), with all of those who had having experience of the

| Table 1. Response Rates for Questions 1, 2, and 14-20. |
|-----------------|-----------------|-----------------|-----------------|-----------------|-----------------|-----------------|-----------------|-----------------|
| Q1 | Q2 | Q14 | Q15 | Q16 | Q17 | Q18 | Q19 | Q20 |
| a | Y | 4 | Y | 10 | Y | 6 | Y | 6 | Y | 0 | a | 3 | Y | 12 | a | 4 |
| b | 14 | N | 11 | N | 5 | N | 9 | N | 8 | N | 14 | b | 3 | N | 3 | b | 1 |
| c | 4 | | c | 0 | | c | 9 | | |
| d | 4 | | d | 8 | | d | 1 | | |
| e | 0 | | e | 5 | | e | | | |
| f | 2 | | f | 1 | | f | | | |
| g | 1 | | g | | | g | | | |
| h | 1 | | h | | | h | | | |

Q1. Why did you want to join the speech contest preparation lessons? (a. I enjoy speaking English, b. I wanted to improve my English, c. I wanted to check my English level against students from other schools, d. It is good for my university application, e. I wanted to win a prize, f. It was a new course at the school, g. My teacher told me to, h. Other); Q2. Have you entered a speech contest before?; Q14. Did you write your work in Japanese and then translate it?; Q15. Did you ask a Japanese teacher for help?; Q16. Did you have any problems researching your topic?; Q17. Could the teachers have helped you research your topic more?; Q18. Which was hardest for you in your writing? (a. Structuring the essay, b. Vocabulary, c. Finding a topic, d. Writing the sentences (Grammar), e. Expressing an opinion, f. Length of speech); Q19. Will you enter another speech contest?; Q20. How would you prefer the classes to be? (a. Individually, b. Pairs, c. Small groups, d. Large groups)

| Table 2. Mean Scores for Questions 3-13. |
|-----------------|-----------------|-----------------|-----------------|-----------------|-----------------|-----------------|-----------------|-----------------|
| Q3 | Q4 | Q5 | Q6 | Q7 | Q8 | Q9 | Q10 | Q11 | Q12 | Q13 |
| 4.20 | 3.73 | 3.40 | 3.27 | 3.73 | 3.80 | 4.07 | 4.33 | 3.64 | 4.20 | 3.93 |

Q3. How much do you agree with the statement ‘In general, entering speech contests helps to improve students’ English’?; Q4. How much do you agree with the statement ‘External speech contests are more beneficial than internal speech contests’? Q5. How much do you think joining this course has increased your confidence in speaking English?; Q6. How much do you think joining this course has increased your confidence in writing English?; Q7. How much do you think joining this course has improved your English speaking?; Q8. How much do you think joining this course has improved your English writing?; Q9. How much do you agree with the statement ‘The speech preparation lessons were useful’; Q10. How much do you agree with the statement ‘I was given enough help when preparing my speech’; Q11. How much do you agree with the statement ‘I had enough lessons with my teacher to prepare’; Q12. How much do you agree with the statement ‘I would recommend joining the course to my friends’; Q13. How much do you agree with the statement ‘More students should join the course’;
sawt’s internal speech contests. The students showed strong agreement that entering speech contests was a good way to improve their English (Q3), and moderate agreement that external speech contests were of greater value than internal speech contests (Q4). The students indicated that taking the program had had a moderately positive effect on their confidence in speaking and writing English (Q5, Q6), and that their spoken and written English had shown a moderate improvement (Q7, Q8).

The students indicated a high satisfaction with the program (Q9), and also that they had received sufficient assistance from the native teachers (Q10). However, there was only moderate agreement that they had had enough contact time with the native teachers (Q11).

The students indicated strongly that they would recommend the program to their friends (Q12), and showed a moderately strong agreement that more students should join the program (Q13).

Two thirds of the students initially wrote their speeches in Japanese before translating them into English (Q14), but only about one third of the students approached a Japanese teacher of English for assistance (Q15).

Over one third of the students reported having some difficulty determining a theme for their speeches (Q16), but none of the students sought help with researching their chosen topics (Q17). Perhaps, unsurprisingly, the most commonly reported difficulty was writing grammatically correct sentences in English (Q18), with pronunciation, selecting vocabulary, the structure of the speech and its length being reported by smaller numbers of students. A large majority of the students stated that they wanted to enter more speech contests (Q19), something which has certainly been borne out by their subsequent behavior.

Surprisingly, given that the majority of the students opted to practice individually or in pairs, when asked what size group they thought was best almost two thirds expressed a preference for small groups (Q20), with just under one third preferring to continue with individual classes, and only two students expressing preferences for large group lessons.

Discussion

The data indicates that the implementation of an external speech contest program has been successful, insofar as the initial response and students’ comments are concerned. Furthermore, the students indicate that they believe entering speech contests is a good way to improve their English and that participating in the program had had a positive affect on their confidence and level of English speaking and writing, illustrated by comments made by Student C, “We can talk with foreigners without embarrassment,” Student L, “To speak English directly is very fun and we can learn more,” and Student T, “Everyone can change their opinion. It helps people improve essay writing and speech giving skills”.

The results show a high overall satisfaction with the program, but only moderate agreement that the students had enough contact time with the native teachers, shown by comments made by Student O, “I want to have much more time with the teachers,” and Student V, “[I want] more contact time with teachers to ‘feel’ English.” This suggests that the students want more time to prepare and would find extra sessions beneficial. These findings are supported by the indication that the students would recommend the program to their friends, that they want to enter more speech contests, and that they believe more students should join the program. However, some students showed concern that too many people would join the program and that this could dilute the benefits gained, e.g., Student E, “Now it’s [good] enough but if more people join, each person will have less time, so it will not be as successful.” Therefore, joining the program should be kept as a voluntary option as forcing unmotivated students to participate may disrupt the sessions or have a negative impact on the overall image of the program. This is supported by comments made by Student W, “If someone tells you to do something, it is effective, but if someone volunteers, the teacher can teach them nicely and it is more effective.”

Based on the initial feedback, the format of the program sessions may need to be revised. When initially offered tutorials individually, in pairs or in small groups, the large majority opted for individual sessions. However, the data suggests that their opinions have changed, with the most popular preferred structure reported being small groups. This could be explained by a feeling of group togetherness, students being able to support each other, provide peer feedback and become positive rivals, or a reduction of anxiety, noted in comments from Student C, “We can help each other and try hard together and feel a natural way to learn,” Student M, “To speak English in small groups improves our English more. Small groups mean people can have rivals,” and Student W, “Around eight people. I can be not too nervous and I can enjoy it.”

However, while this class structure may be popular during the speech writing stage, Student
A said, “One to one, slowly is best,” and Student R said, “Some people are there so I can learn from them, but there’s not a lot of opportunity to say my opinion,” which suggests that it may not be practical when preparing the speech delivery as the students would not receive the same level of input as on an individual basis. These results imply that using a small group structure during the speech writing and early practice stages and then shifting to a one-to-one pattern when preparing for the final speech delivery would be appropriate.

It was mentioned that by being able to think about a topic in English, various areas of language skills were being enhanced in a number of different ways. Student M said that, “To think in English about a speech and to practice makes people improve,” and Student S said that, “To speak English definitely improves English and also thinking about what to say in a speech helps us improve.” Also students found that they were learning new vocabulary and grammar, e.g., Student I, “Learning words we don’t learn in lessons,” Student T, “To learn new grammar and vocabulary,” and Student U, “If I hadn’t joined the course, I wouldn’t have learned lots of new vocabulary.” It was also claimed that gaining extra contact time with native speakers helped to improve the students’ English levels, illustrated by Student A, “Contact with the native teachers helps get English into our heads,” and Student L, “I enjoyed it a lot because we could talk to English people and get their opinions.” It can therefore be stated that the implementation of the speech program provided students with the opportunity to develop their English skills in ways that were previously unavailable. Furthermore, it can be asserted that the new learning contexts have been perceived as beneficial by the participating students.

The participants found writing grammatically correct sentences most difficult, shown by Student D, “I didn’t know how to make the most effective sentence,” and Student R, “I couldn’t explain in English something that I can explain in Japanese very well,” but also indicated that this was an area they felt that they had improved, e.g., Student F, “I learned new grammar and vocabulary,” and Student M, “What I thought was right, what I learned was incorrect, so it was good to learn the correct way to speak English.” Another area of difficulty was pronunciation, illustrated by Student S, “Writing was difficult and intonation / stress was difficult,” and Student W, “Writing words is OK, but pronouncing words was difficult.” However, the students felt that they had also shown improvement in their pronunciation, e.g., Student B, “Pronunciation is a bit better,” and Student M,
“The teacher helped me to make the essay and with my pronunciation.” It can therefore be stated that the program is addressing areas of language that students need help with and that the students perceive the program to be beneficial in developing their skills in these areas.

The comments regarding the reasons for joining the program showed that it provided the opportunity for students to express their opinions, shown by Student A, “I want to express my opinion,” Student H, “To speak English and to tell people what I am thinking,” and Student R, “It’s a wonderful feeling to tell people what I am thinking,” and that it was also a chance to prove to other students that they could speak English well, highlighted by Student P, “I want to prove to people who say I can’t speak English that I can.” The program therefore gives students a sense of achievement and pride, empowering them to develop their English in a context with a definite objective other than exams.

It is possible that, as the target of the program is not an exam, that the students’ enjoyment of the program and therefore their perceptions of English in general were increased, seen in comments made by Student A, “I would love to have experience of lots of contests,” Student D, “It’s a good experience,” Student M, “To do the speech contest is fun and enjoyable,” Student R, “To speak English is fun,” and Student T, “It was good for me and fun”. Studying a language in a positive and enjoyable environment can lead to increased motivation, the reduction of affective filters (Krashen, 1981), illustrated by Student C, “We can talk with foreigners without embarrassment,” and can have a positive affect on the way students study in other subjects.

Conclusion
Regardless of the students’ actual performance in the speech contests, their entrance into an external speech preparation program has shown itself to be successful in many respects, particularly in giving students the chance to develop their English skills in an autonomous manner that they found enjoyable and rewarding. However, the structure of the program needs to be altered to take the students’ stated preference for small group study into account, which would allow for peer feedback and their desire for more contact time with the native-speaker teachers.

As information regarding many speech contests is sent to schools as a matter of course, the primary requirement from teachers in establishing such a program is scheduling enough time to mentor and facilitate the students’ work. This investment of time is amply rewarded by the efforts and many hours of autonomous work applied by the students, and we strongly encourage interested teachers to try implementing a similar program for themselves.

Appendices
The appendices are available from the online version of this article at <jalt-publications.org/tlt/issues/2012-03_36.2>.

References

James Bury is a teacher at a high school in the Kanto region. He has taught in a range of schools, colleges and universities in England, Thailand, Vietnam and Japan. He has an MA in English Linguistics and his research interests include gendered language and portrayals in EFL textbooks, and classroom language.

Anthony Sellick is an author and teacher based in a high school in the Kanto region. He has taught in public and private junior and senior high schools all over Japan. He holds an MSc in Psychology, and his research interests include the psychology of the language classroom.

Kyoko Yamamoto is a teacher and the Head of English at a private high school in the Kanto region. She received her M.Ed from Hyogo University of Teacher Education. Her research interests include language acquisition and sociocultural language development.
Appendix A: Speech Contest Preparation Program Feedback questionnaire

1. なぜあなたはスピーチコンテスト予習レッスンに参加したのですか？(1つ以上に○をしてもよい。)
   a. 私は英語を話すことが楽しい。
   b. 私の英語を向上させたかった。
   c. 私の英語のレベルを他の学校の生徒と比べて確かめたかった。
   d. これは大学の入試に有利だから。
   e. 私は賞が欲しかった。
   f. 学校での新しいプログラムだったから。
   g. 先生が言ったから。
   h. その他。

その他に○をした人はその理由を下に書いてください。

2. 今までにスピーチコンテストに出場した事はありますか？ はい。
   いいえ。

はいの人はどのコンテストに出場しましたか？

3. どのくらい同意しますか？‘全体的にスピーチコンテストに参加した事で生徒の英語力が向上すると思う。’(1=完全に反対、5=完全に賛成)

   1  2  3  4  5

説明

4. どのくらい同意しますか？‘外部のスピーチコンテストは学校内のスピーチコンテストよりためになる。’(1=完全に反対、5=完全に賛成)

   1  2  3  4  5

説明

5. このコースに参加した事でどのくらいあなたの英語を話す自信が増えましたか？
6. このプログラムに参加した事でどのくらいあなたの英語を書く自信が増えましたか？
(1 = 全く、5 = 大いに・ずいぶん)
1 2 3 4 5

7. このプログラムに参加した事でどのくらいあなたの英語を話すことが高められましたか？
(5 = 大いに・ずいぶん、1 = 全く)
5 4 3 2 1

8. このプログラムに参加した事でどのくらいあなたの英語を書くことが高められましたか？
(5 = 大いに・ずいぶん、1 = 全く)
5 4 3 2 1

9. スピーチ予習レッスンはどのくらい役に立った／効果的だったと同意しますか？
(1 = 完全に反対、5 = 完全に賛成)
1 2 3 4 5

説明
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________
___________________________________________________

10. どのくらい同意しますか？‘私のスピーチの予習の時、私は十分に／必要なだけ助けてもらった。’
(1 = 完全に反対、5 = 完全に賛成)
1 2 3 4 5

説明
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________
___________________________________________________

11. どのくらい同意しますか？‘私は十分な／必要なだけレッスンを先生と準備した。
(1 = 完全に反対、5 = 完全に賛成)
1 2 3 4 5
12. どのくらい同意しますか？‘私は友達にこのプログラムの参加することを勧める。’
(5= 完全に賛成、1= 完全に反対)

5 4 3 2 1

説明
___________________________________________________

13. どのくらい同意しますか？‘より多くの生徒がこのプログラムに参加すべきだ。’
(5= 完全に賛成、1= 完全に反対)

5 4 3 2 1

説明
___________________________________________________

14. あなたの勉強／課題を日本語で書きそしてそれを訳しましたか？

はい。 いいえ。

はい時,あなたはそれがスピーチの準備の為の一番良い方法だと思いますか？

_________________________________________________________________________

15. 日本の先生に助けを頼み／尋ねましたか？

はい。 いいえ。

はい時,どのように日本の先生は助けてくれましたか？

_________________________________________________________________________

16. テーマを調査している間に疑問／難問はありましたか？

はい。 いいえ。

はい時,どのような問題でしたか？

_________________________________________________________________________
17. 先生はあなたをもっと手伝う事が出来ましたか？

はい。

いいえ。

はい時にどのようにして？

_________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________

18. どれが一番難しかったですか？

a. エッセイの構成
b. 単語・用語
c. テーマを見つけること
d. 文章を書くこと（文法）
e. 意見・考えの表現
f. スピーチの長さ

もう少し詳しく・・・

_________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________

19. 他のスピーチコンテストに参加しますか？

はい。

いいえ。

なぜ？

_________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________

20. クラスがどの様であることがよいと思いますか？（1つだけ○を付けて下さい。）

a. 個々に
b. 1組
c. 小さなグループ
d. 大きなグループ

説明

_________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________

21. スピーチ予習プログラムを改善／高める方法はありますか？

_________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________
Speech and essay contest feedback questionnaire

1. Why did you want to join the speech contest preparation lessons? (Please circle the choices below. You can circle more than one.)

   a. I enjoy speaking English
   b. I wanted to improve my English
   c. I wanted to check my English level against students from other schools
   d. It is good for my university application
   e. I wanted to win a prize
   f. It was a new course at the school
   g. My teacher told me to
   h. Other

If you answered Other, please state the reason below.
__________________________________________________________________________

2. Have you entered a speech contest before?
   Yes  No

   If Yes, which contest did you enter?  ____________________  ____________________
__________________________________________________________________________

3. How much do you agree with the statement ‘In general, entering speech contests helps to improve students’ English’? (1 = disagree completely, 5 = agree completely.)

   1  2  3  4  5

   Please explain.
__________________________________________________________________________

4. How much do you agree with the statement ‘External speech contests are more beneficial than internal speech contests’? (1 = disagree completely, 5 = agree completely.)

   1  2  3  4  5

   Please explain.
__________________________________________________________________________

5. How much do you think joining this course has increased your confidence in speaking English? (1 = Not at all, 5 = A great deal.)

   1  2  3  4  5

6. How much do you think joining this course has increased your confidence in writing English? (1 = Not at all, 5 = A great deal.)
7. How much do you think joining this course has improved your English speaking?
   (5 = A great deal, 1 = Not at all.)

   5  4  3  2  1

8. How much do you think joining this course has improved your English writing?
   (5 = A great deal, 1 = Not at all.)

   5  4  3  2  1

9. How much do you agree with the statement ‘The speech preparation lessons were useful’?
   (1 = disagree completely, 5 = agree completely.)

   1  2  3  4  5

   Please explain.

10. How much do you agree with the statement ‘I was given enough help when preparing my speech’?
    (1 = disagree completely, 5 = agree completely.)

    1  2  3  4  5

    Please explain.

11. How much do you agree with the statement ‘I had enough lessons with my teacher to prepare’?
    (1 = disagree completely, 5 = agree completely.)

    1  2  3  4  5

12. How much do you agree with the statement ‘I would recommend joining the course to my friends’?
    (5 = agree completely, 1 = disagree completely.)

    5  4  3  2  1

    Please explain.
13. How much do you agree with the statement ‘More students should join the course’? (5 = agree completely, 1 = disagree completely.)

5 4 3 2 1

Please explain.

14. Did you write your work in Japanese and then translate it?

Yes No

If yes, do you think that this was the best way to prepare for your speech? Please explain.

15. Did you ask a Japanese teacher for help?

Yes No

If yes, how did the Japanese teacher help?

16. Did you have any problems researching your topic?

Yes No

If yes, what problems did you have?

17. Could the teachers have helped you research your topic more?

Yes No

If yes, how?

18. Which was hardest for you in your writing? (Please circle the choices below. You can circle more than one.)

a. Structuring the essay
d. Writing the sentences (Grammar)
b. Vocabulary
c. Finding a topic
e. Expressing an opinion
f. Length of speech

Please tell us more.

_________________________________________________________

19. Will you enter another speech contest?

Yes

No

Why?

_________________________________________________________

20. How would you prefer the classes to be? (Please circle one option.)

a. Individually

b. Pairs

c. Small groups

d. Large groups

Please explain.

_________________________________________________________

21. Can you think of any ways the speech preparation course could be improved?

_________________________________________________________
Appendix B: Student Comments

Q.1 Why did you want to join the speech contest preparation lessons?
1. I want to express my opinion. (Student A)
2. I want to prove to people who say I can’t speak English that I can. (Student P)

Q.3 How much do you agree with the statement, “In general, entering speech contests helps to improve students’ English.”?
3. Contact with the native teachers helps get English into our heads. (Student A)
4. We can talk with foreigners without embarrassment. (Student C)
5. We can learn new words. (Student D)
6. We can think how to speak English well. (Student E)
7. To make sentences in English by myself. (Student H)
8. Learning words we don’t learn in lessons. (Student I)
9. Remembering the sentence means to repeat and learn a sentence. (Student J)
10. Gain natural contact with native-teachers. (Student K)
11. To speak English directly is very fun and we can learn more. (Student L)
12. To think in English about a speech and to practice makes people improve. (Student M)
13. Thinking about English. (Student O)
14. To speak English definitely improves English and also thinking about what to say in a speech helps us improve. (Student S)
15. To learn new grammar and vocabulary. (Student T)
16. I enjoyed practicing. (Student V)

Q.4 How much do you agree with the statement, “External speech contests are more beneficial than internal speech contests.”?
17. For me to speak in an external contest doesn’t help, but to hear speeches from other schools has a deep affect. (Student C)
18. It has a deeper affect because we don’t know the people and don’t know who is a very good student. (Student E)

19. We can learn from other students. (Student L)

20. There is a deeper affect with students from other schools. (Student R)

21. We can challenge students from other schools. (Student S)

22. A lot of people have joined the course. (Student U)

23. Internal or external doesn’t matter, my willingness to do well is what is important. (Student V)

Q.9 How much do you agree with the statement, “The speech preparation lessons were useful.”?

24. Pronunciation is a bit better. (Student B)

25. I learned new grammar and vocabulary. (Student F)

26. I rechecked my English level. (Student H)

27. I enjoyed it a lot because we could talk to English people and get their opinions. (Student L)

28. What I thought was right, what I learned was incorrect, so it was good to learn the correct way to speak English. (Student M)

29. However, I want to have much more time with the teachers. (Student O)

30. I made the essay myself, so I enjoyed the training. I studied a lot more than usual and I spoke English. (Student S)

31. If I hadn’t joined the course, I wouldn’t have learned lots of new vocabulary. (Student U)

Q.10 How much do you agree with the statement, “I was given enough help when preparing my speech.”?

32. All of my questions and problems were answered and solved well. (Student A)

33. About intonation and how to write the sentences to make people understand. (Student K)

34. The teacher helped check my final essay. (Student L)

35. The teacher helped me to make the essay and with my pronunciation. (Student M)

36. When I didn’t know something, I could ask them anything and they could teach me. (Student O)
37. About pronunciation. (Student S)

38. Kind. (Student W)

Q.12 How much do you agree with the statement, “I would recommend joining the program to my friends.”?

39. We can say what we think. (Student A)

40. We can help each other and try hard together and feel a natural way to learn. (Student C)

41. To speak English and to tell people what I am thinking. (Student H)

42. Only for people that want to do it. (Student M)

43. If they are willing to do it. (Student U)

44. It’s better to do it than not. (Student V)

45. If someone tells you to do something, it is effective, but if someone volunteers, the teacher can teach them nicely and it is more effective. (Student W)
Q.13 How much do you agree with the statement, “More students should join the program.”?

46. To improve their English. (Student D)
47. Only for people who want to do it. (Student M)
48. It’s a wonderful feeling to tell people what I am thinking. (Student R)
49. To improve English and communicate easily with other people. (Student S)
50. Everyone can change their opinion. It helps people improve essay writing and speech giving skills. (Student T)
51. If someone tells you to do something, it is effective, but if someone volunteers, the teacher can teach them nicely and it is more effective. (Student W)

Q.14 Did you write your work in Japanese and then translate it?

52. Write in Japanese and then consider in English more. (Student C)
53. To write in English first is better. (Student D)
54. To be honest, the best way is to write in English first. (Student F)
55. Yes, it is the best way. (Student L)
56. I don’t know, but someone told me that translating from Japanese to English isn’t good. (Student O)

Q.15 Did you ask a Japanese teacher for help?

57. The native teachers helped me to make my sentences nicely. (Student I)
58. They checked the essay I wrote for grammar. (Student L)
59. They recorded a version of the speech for me. (Student P)
60. Just usual help. (Student R)
61. When I needed grammar help. (Student U)
62. Only for [one] sentence. (Student V)
Q.16 Did you have any problems researching your topic?

63. Did I consider well if it’s me or my family. (Student A)
64. I couldn’t find the data that I wanted. (Student I)
65. I checked a lot about [my topic]. (Student L)

Q.18 Which was hardest for you in your writing?

66. It was difficult to describe someone’s story and history. (Student A)
67. Pronunciation was very difficult. (Student B)
68. I can write anything in Japanese, but English sentences are difficult. (Student C)
69. I didn’t know how to make the most effective sentence. (Student D)
70. There was some grammar that I didn’t know. (Student J)
71. To make [essay] in English. (Student O)
72. I couldn’t explain in English something that I can explain in Japanese very well. (Student R)
73. Writing was difficult and intonation / stress was difficult. (Student S)
74. There were lots of gerunds so the sentence wasn’t nice / correct and I didn’t know how to change it. (Student T)
75. Writing words is OK, but pronouncing words was difficult. (Student W)

Q.19 Will you enter another speech contest?

76. I would love to have experience of lots of contests. (Student A)
77. It’s a good experience. (Student D)
78. This is my duty (way) to improve my English. (Student L)
79. To do the speech contest is fun and enjoyable. (Student M)
80. To speak English is fun. (Student R)
81. It was good for me and fun. (Student T)
82. I want to try whenever the chance comes, at any opportunity. (Student W) Q.20 How would you prefer the classes to be?

83. One to one, slowly is best. (Student A)

84. Small groups with one teacher is the best. (Student C)

85. The teacher can explain to us individually. (Student I)

86. To have fewer students is a good way to learn, but in England I had a big class and it was fun, so people can learn English more. (Student L)

87. To speak English in small groups improves our English more. Small groups mean people can have rivals. (Student M)

88. Some people are there so I can learn from them, but there’s not a lot of opportunity to say my opinion. (Student R)

89. Around eight people. I can be not too nervous and I can enjoy it. (Student W)

Q.21 Can you think of any ways the speech preparation program could be improved?

90. Now it’s [good] enough but if more people join, each person will have less time, so it will not be as successful. (Student E)

91. Join lots of contests. (Student L)

92. Practice again and again. (Student M)

93. Do it in regular English lessons. (Student U)

94. Have more contact time with teachers to ‘feel’ English. (Student V)